Slouchers and Brones.

The world is pretty much made up of slovebers and workers, crenes and bees.

Special contracts will be made with yearly ad-

The first class covers those pitiful people who are so listless in mind and lary in body, through their fixed habits, that they never do a fair day's work to care a living it they can possibly avoid it,' They are content to prey upon the industry and thrift of the alert and patient toilers who do get an hencet income by striving to give their employers or ensterness a full return fer it.

At first sight it may look to some as if the siouchers had the best of the bargain as they canningly contrive to find some kind of food and clothing and house shelter, without thring both muscles and hands with hard work. But the feel is that no idle dawdler ever gets more than a very poor living, while he is also sure to expose timself to the contempt of all rightthicking people.

All dranes carry signs of their shame about with them, written in such large letters upon their faces, figures and walks that any observer can read at sight-Slouch ! Sailors call such a worthless man a lubber. and they are gratty sure to ferment the life out of him. City people cell him a gawk, a lout; and when a course of dainking and carousing has brought him almost down to the gutter he becomes that miserable creature known as a tramp. Such a poor fellow has not spirit enough in him to stee out into a apry brisk walk, but he has to slouch along in a lazy, stopping, clowaish sort of way that makes one at xious to give him a good shaking up in order to start his blood into netivity.

Did you ever think that this shaping out of our personal character and social fortunes be-gins very carly in life? It generally takes its start in school days. Just lock around among your classmates and you may see slovehers in the very process of formation.

When a rebolar shirks his duties, cribs Lis exercises when he can, slyly steads a glates into a book or paper during receitation, or gets a chum to prompt him with the right answer, is so mean when examination time comes around as to storeto note backs about his person or MEN'S AND BOYS' GOODS. a confirmed slouch and to ruin his own career. By all means let us despise and shun slonching in all its forms. If one wishes to be useful and respected in life, happy in the family and society, well to do in fortuge and able to be her age no werse off at least and perhaps even a little bit the better fer a healthful example, he or she most be a worker, and a good humored worker also. It is a blessing for us all and not a hardship that we must work in some way in order to car and sleep with a relish and to be at peace in Newly Married d'ounles.

It is the barniest and most virtuous mate of society in which the husband and wife set out tegether, make their preperty together, and Collars and Cuffa; Black Cashmere Shawis; full with perfect sympathy of soul graduate all their expenses, plans, calculations and desires with reference to their fature and common interest. Nothing delights a man more than to enter the nest little tenement of the yangs people who within perhaps two or three years, without sey resources but their own knowledge of industry, have joined heart and band and engaged to share together the responsibilities, duties, interests, trials, and pleasures of life. The judus ri ous wife is cheerfully employing her hands in domestic duties, putting her house in order or mending her husband's clothes, or proparing the cioner, while nerhaps the little carling sit prattling on the fiber or hes sheeping in the oradle, and everything reams prepared to welcome the happiest of hurbands and the best of fathers when be shall come home from his will to cripy the sweets of his little paradise. This is true do mestic pleasure. Health, contentment, love, abundance and bright prospects are alhere. But it has become a prevalent sentiment that a man must acquire his fortune before he marries; that the wife must have no sympathy or share with him in the pursuit of it-in which most of the pleasure truly consists-and the young married people must set out with as large and expensive an establishment as is becoming those who have been wedded twenty years, This is very unhappy; it fills the community with bachelors who are waiting to make their fertuses, endangering virtue, promoting vice; it destroys the true conomy and design of the domestic institution, and is promotes inefficiency among females, who ere expecting to be taken up by fortune and passively sustained without may care or concern on their part, and thus many a wife becomes, as a gentleman once re-marked, not a "helpmate" but a helpcat."
